The Hon. CHARLES F. EICK

Sir as you know I appeared in your courtroom this morning for a 9:30AM Extradition hearing with my counsel Marisol Orihuela.

You asked if the conditions to my Long-term supervision order was imposed by the Correctional Services of Canada, no they are not. The conditions that are set out in the Long-term Supervision Certificate (Ex. D. Affidavit of Lisa Manson) on page 1 (of 4) of this document under special conditions you will see that this form belongs to the Parole Board of Canada "I understand that the Long-term supervision certificate is the property of the Parole Board of Canada and must be delivered on demand of the Parole Board of Canada or of my parole supervisor" And these special conditions are imposed by the "Parole Board of Canada" as pointed out by Miss Shai's affidavit at paragraph 17 "the Parole Board of Canada will impose a variety of special conditions that will govern an offender's release" (para 17, pg 4)

1 of 2

Also there are standard conditions that apply, these standard conditions that are imposed by the Parole Board of Canada are on page 4 of the long-term supervision certificate (Ex. D. Affidavit of Lisa Manson - page 4) "The conditions that the Parole Board of Canada is deemed to have imposed in respect of any offender released on long term supervision are that you: " The conditions are set out below on this certificate - (page 4)

As you can see, not only by this form but by Miss Shai's Affidavit at para 17, it is the Parole Board of Canada that imposes standard conditions as well as the "special conditions" on page 1 of the Long term supervision certificate which is issued by the Parole Board of Canada, therefore it is the Parole Board of Canada who sets the (special) conditions for a Long term supervision certificate (see Ex. D. to Affidavit of Lisa Manson, and Affidavit of Karen Shai at para 17).

I hope that this gets to you in time so that you can see that "dual criminality" has not been met as to "supervised release" here in the states. I really do not want to go through a appeal to raise this argument when you can deal with it.

Thank you
L. Shai
